It is my great pleasure to write this message as the new President of CİMAM for the current three-year term (2023–25), a position to which I was elected by the members of the Board this past November at the end of the CİMAM Annual Conference in Palma de Mallorca, Spain.
I am honored and excited to work together with my fellow Board members to contribute to our modern and contemporary art museum community as we continue to face complex times.

During the last year, so many projects have served as reminders of the important challenges that the contemporary art museum sector is encountering today, as well as the significant role that CÎMAM has as a collective force to bring together professionals from around the world and contribute with insight to ensuring positive futures for our institutions and professional colleagues.

In 2022, we celebrated a milestone for our organization, the 60th anniversary of CÎMAM founded in 1962. When we look back at the history of CÎMAM, we see how the changes that CÎMAM has undergone reflect the evolution of the museum's needs over these last six decades. Changing slowly but firmly from a European-American-centered view to a more global, inclusive, and diverse community of museums.

Fortunately, today we can talk of a post-pandemic time, however, many museums are still struggling with the consequences of long and strict restrictions, and budget cuts resulting in staffing and governance challenges. During these two difficult years, three crucial issues emerged that urgently needed to be addressed: sustainability, governance, and diversity.

On sustainability, CÎMAM launched in 2022 a survey to assess the commitment of the international museum community to achieving some of the SDGs of the UN Agenda 2030. In 2023, we will release the results of this study, while continue encouraging change by sharing the resources to inspire and help museums to move forward in achieving the 2030 UN Agenda’s goals. One of the immediate actions is to keep updating the CÎMAM Toolkit for Environmental Sustainability in Museum Practice.

In terms of governance, the extraordinary work of the Museum Watch committee continues to assist modern and contemporary art museum professionals in critical situations that undermine their ability to conduct their professional practice to continue international standards of good practice is noteworthy. In 2022, INTERCOM and CÎMAM launched the Museum Watch Governance Management Project as a special İCOM initiative to help the museum community address management challenges more effectively. And as a result of this project, CÎMAM released A set of Governance Clauses for Museum Ethics to protect and support museums and their staff. To continue strengthening our relationship with İCOM through practical projects of common interest, will continue to be one of our goals in 2023.

The critical adjustments made to the CÎMAM's membership fee structures further promote inclusiveness among the international community of museum professionals so that everyone can join CÎMAM. Regarding diversity, the representation of 84 countries among our members, and myself as the sixth woman to chair CÎMAM, represents a symbolic change that is emblematic of our collective CÎMAM values.
CİMAM

CİMAM has become in the last years a truly global organization with more than 700 affiliated professionals – a record number of members. Diversity is today a cornerstone for modern and contemporary art museums. Museums remind us who we are through our collections and increasingly through the cultures we promote in our museums. Despite the progress done, there is still a long way to go. Listening, incorporating different voices into the debates, and giving visibility to the diversity of professionals from underrepresented regions, especially from Africa, is one of CİMAM’s strategic goals for this three-year term.

As we start a new membership term, I would like to thank our esteemed colleagues, our members of CİMAM, for their continued affiliation and active involvement with CİMAM’s programs, and for bringing their expertise to this global professional community.

I conclude this letter to express, on behalf of the entire CİMAM Board, my sincere gratitude to our driving force: our Major Patrons, Founding Patrons, Patrons, and Supporters, as well as our in-kind e-card partner, for their loyal and crucial support to CİMAM. Thank you!

Warm regards,

Suhanya Raffel
President of CİMAM 2023-25

Every three years, CİMAM members choose their representatives by exercising their right to vote.

The CİMAM Board is an active and dynamic group of 15 members that serve voluntarily to represent the interests of CİMAM.

During their three-year tenure, the members of the Board are in constant contact through e-mail conversations that are coordinated by the executive team of CİMAM. The President and the Secretary-Treasurer are the busiest board members. They oversee the everyday operations and projects of CİMAM.

Some of the Board functions are running working groups and contributing to the development of the different programs, recruiting new members, ensuring the committee’s financial success by identifying funding opportunities, and representing CİMAM and its membership within the profession worldwide. The Board is also encouraged to attend the Annual Conference each year and to actively participate by leading the different sessions and panel discussions proposed.

Any member of CİMAM who is an active museum professional or former museum professional (with at least 5 years of museological career), a curator, or an academic museologist is eligible for election to the Board.
The CÎMAM office received the nominations from candidates to the Board until mid-September. CÎMAM Members cast their votes online during the month of October, and onsite during the Annual Conference in Palma.

The newly elected Board, along with the outgoing - both online and onsite, and some by proxy - elected the new President and Secretary-Treasurer and informed CÎMAM members of the results of this election at the farewell dinner in Palma.

→ Refer to the CÎMAM bylaws for a full description of the President, Secretary-Treasurer, and Board's roles and responsibilities, as well as how is the Board constituted.

During the CÎMAM 2021 General Assembly held in November in Gdansk, Poland, the CÎMAM Board announced the plan to update the membership fees and scheme to start implementing them in the next three-year membership term: 2023–25.

This initiative responds to CÎMAM's purpose of being more equitable and inclusive with fees adjusted to the different geoeconomic realities of professionals worldwide.
CİMAM

In November 2022, CİMAM members approved at the General Assembly held in Mallorca, Spain, the new update in CİMAM’s membership rates, which consists of aligning with İCOM and using the same criteria of membership fees by countries, according to Gross Domestic Product (GDP) per capita by Purchasing Power Parity (PPP), guaranteeing equal access to CİMAM for all professionals around the world.

The new fees were promoted and communicated to CİMAM members months in advance of being approved, for the revision of CİMAM members.

Victoria Noorthoorn, CİMAM Board Member and Director, Museo de Arte Moderno de Buenos Aires, Buenos Aires, Argentina, led the change in CİMAM membership fees.
The new scheme proposes two membership types with a more diversified range of rate groups:

- To Individual Members, CİMAM will offer 4 different fees according to the GDP PPP of their country.
- To Institutional Members, CİMAM will offer 6 different fees according to the GDP PPP of their country and the operating budget of the museum/institution.

For the past 10 years, CÎMAM's residence has been in Fabra i Coats, owned by the City Council of Barcelona. The agreement expired, and in 2022, CÎMAM signed an agreement with MACBA – Museu d'Art Contemporani de Barcelona to establish the fiscal and social address of CÎMAM at their premises.

If you visit Barcelona, the executive team will be glad to meet you here!
In August 2022, CÎMAM presented two sessions at the ICOM General Meeting in Prague, representing the collective interests and challenges of museums and collections of modern and contemporary:

→ Museums of Modern and Contemporary Art: Developing Strategies for Change and Empowerment

On Monday August 22, CÎMAM addressed the relevance and impact of modern and contemporary art museums when understood and managed, as agents of change for the development of societies around the world.

With an introduction by CÎMAM President (2020–22), Mami Kataoka, on the Board's initiatives undertaken to respond to the concerns and challenges faced by CÎMAM's professional community, followed by a diversity of 20 case studies organized around the core values supported by CÎMAM such as education, social integration, health, and economic development, freedom, solidarity, equality, inclusion, accessibility, and sustainability.
Panelists and topics:

“New Museums and Museum Models that further Economic Development” by Mami Kataoka.

“Education, Outreach Social Integration and Wellbeing as developed by Museums of Modern and Contemp Art” by Victoria Noorthoorn.

“Solidarity, Climate Change, and Environmental Sustainability in Museums of Modern and Contemporary Art” by Malgorzata Ludwisiak.

→ Museum Governance – Something to Watch

On Tuesday August 23, Goranka Horjan, Chair of INTERCOM, and Bart De Baere, CİMAM Board Member, introduced the “Museum Watch Governance Management Report” produced by INTERCOM and CİMAM Museum Watch (working group Chaired by Bart de Baere) while Ian King and Annick Schramme presented the outcomes of the project.
CÎMAM Working Groups

The Board plays a vital leadership role in supporting the mission of CÎMAM to ensure the continued recognition and sustainability of museums, collections, and archives of modern and contemporary art as contributors to the cultural, social, and economic well-being of society.

During their honorary tenure, CÎMAM Board members each contribute to practical and strategic working groups.

The Board looks to ensure global participation and perspective, acknowledge visionary practices, and address some of the more urgent challenges facing modern and contemporary museums today.

In 2022, there were seven active working groups:

- Museum Watch Program
- Sustainability and Ecology in Museum Practice
- Rapid Response Webinars
- Contents Committee of the Annual Conference
- Travel Grant Program
- Outstanding Museum Practices in a Time of Global Crisis
- Commemoration of CÎMAM 60th Anniversary
Museum Watch Program

The 2020–22 Museum Watch Committee consisted of six Board members of CİMAM – Bart De Baere (Chair), Calin Dan, Sarah Glennie, Malgorzata Ludwisiak, Victoria Noorthoorn, and Eugene Tan. The group met regularly online (biweekly on Fridays for 30 minutes) to discuss the status of cases, which sometimes results in a statement or article.

Initiated in 2012, the Museum Watch Program aims to assist modern and contemporary art museum professionals in dealing with critical situations that undermine their ability to undertake their professional practice and affect a museum’s ability to operate to international standards of best practice.

The Museum Watch Program serves as an advocacy program addressing specific critical situations that impact museum professionals and not-for-profit institutions of modern and contemporary art.

The Museum Watch Committee informs its colleagues worldwide of situations of crisis and expresses its concern about those to wider civil society and to the persons and bodies that hold responsibility.
Its core objectives are:

- to generate deeper understanding within the field, by analyzing and discussing cases in MWC, leading up to documentation that will be then archived by CÎMAM.

- to uphold ethical principles, good governance, and best practices for modern and contemporary art museums, including codes and guidelines pertaining to that, eventually uncovering topics for future conferences.

- to inform the CÎMAM community and society at large about critical situations that impact the museums' ability to maintain their mission.

- to express concern by focusing on CÎMAM principles.

- to enact support and solidarity when it appears necessary and feasible, including activism, to provide a network to support CÎMAM members.

The Museum Watch Governance Management Project

As a result of a joint research project between CÎMAM and INTERCOM – the International Committee of ICOM of Museum Management (INTERCOM), in 2022, the Museum Watch Governance Program was launched. This was a special initiative of ICOM, inspired by CÎMAM's existing Museum Watch Committee (MWC), to help the museum community address management challenges more effectively.

The project aimed to set international governance standards for museums and establish codes for external stakeholders to help museums survive this unprecedented crisis.

The report paid attention to reported practices in several European countries of increasing political interference in museum management, thereby reducing the autonomy of museums in professional decision-making.

With the participation of partner museums in South East and Central Europe – represented by the Regional Alliance for South East Europe (ICOM SEE) and ICOM Poland – the project explores how the professional community can respond to an increasingly volatile and risky environment, including inconsistent interference that challenges the neutrality of museums in their knowledge-sharing role. In response to these and other forms of interference, the study argues that introducing an explicit code of governance is a key response.

Bart de Baere, Chair of CİMAM's Museum Watch Committee, and CİMAM Board Member stated: "Governance principles and governance deficits are not specific to contemporary art museums. However, this is where the response of CİMAM, which is part of the İCOM ecosystem, comes in. Therefore, it seemed logical that CİMAM's Museum Watch Committee approached İTERCOM to begin focusing on ideas, issues, and practices related to governance and leadership in the museum context. The whole plan then became an İCOM Special Project".

İTERCOM and CİMAM initiated the project to monitor trends and to see how the professional community can respond to the growing risks. A team of experts, including researchers Ian King and Annick Schramme, carried out the surveys and interviews that have helped map national and regional constraints to harness the creative potential of museums. Read the full report and the main research outcomes at cimam.org > Museum Watch Actions.
CİMAM proposes a set of Governance Clauses for Museum Ethics to protect and support museums and their staff in times of crises

CİMAM’s Museum Watch Committee noted in its reflections on situations of crisis that the core of the problem was often a lack of clarity in governance matters. It contacted two of the standing committees of İCOM, ETHCOM, responsible for the Ethical Code, and INTERCOM, the committee dealing with Museum Management.

This led to the publication Museum Watch Governance Management Project (İCOM, 2022). The set of clauses presented in this document results from that CİMAM/İTERCOM research. Read the clauses at cimam.org > Museum Watch Actions

Take part in CİMAM’s survey on the SDGs tackling Climate, Social and Economic Sustainability in the Museum Practice

#MuseumSustainability
Climate, Social, and Economic Sustainability: How do Modern and Contemporary Art Museums Act to Achieve the Sustainable Development Goals. A report by CİMAM

According to the COP26 meeting conclusions, the fight against climate change must also encompass the balance of social and economic inequalities, at all levels, from the individual, through the community, to the national and international.

In May 2022, CİMAM's launched a survey aimed to provide an overview of the status and progress of modern and contemporary art museums and cultural institutions towards achieving the 2030 Agenda of the United Nations SDGs (Sustainable Development Goals).

The report will link the SDGs (Sustainable Development Goals) with the museum's core values and allows CİMAM to broaden its approach in promoting sustainable practices in museums' social and economic fields to its members.

By promoting innovative solutions, amplifying the voices of marginalized groups, and being a leading educational institution, museums will achieve the inclusion of all members of society in the fight against climate change.

This study has been carried out to obtain a quantitative vision on a global scale. The 9 SDGs selected are closely linked to museum practice and address the goals of inclusion, education, equality, diversity, environment, green economy, and dignity at work, among others.

Professionals from the modern and contemporary art museum sector from seven continents have participated in the study, with professional profiles ranging from Museum Directors, Independent Curators, Curators and Heads of Exhibitions, Chairmen of Boards of Trustees, Presidents and Founders, Executive and Managerial Staff, Communication and Marketing, External Consultants, Sustainability Officers, Researchers, Education, and Teachers.

Three experts were invited to evaluate the survey results and give their perspectives:

SOCIAL: Quality and education, gender equality, reducing inequalities, peace, justice, and strong institutions – by Caitlin Southwick, founder, and executive Director of Ki Culture.

ECONOMIC: Decent work and economic growth, Responsible consumption and production, partnership for the goals – by Martin Müller, Professor, Department of Geography and Sustainability, University of Lausanne.

ENVIRONMENT: Climate action, sustainable cities, and communities – by Henry McGhie, founder of Curating Tomorrow.

Rapid Response Webinars

In 2022, CÎMAM organized 6 Rapid Response Webinars attended by over 200 museum professionals.

Started in May 2020, following the serious crisis caused by COVID-19, CÎMAM has taken the new virtual scenario as an opportunity to launch a series of online activities exclusively for our community to, now more than ever, reinforce the sense of connectivity through online meetings in a peer-to-peer environment to share, learn, and be inspired by the experiences of other CÎMAM professionals.

Rapid Response Webinars allow CÎMAM members to continue discussing the most urgent concerns and questions affecting the modern and contemporary art museum community at this time.

This initiative responds to CÎMAM’s spirit and commitment to be a platform for global discussion, a space for sharing and connecting, learning, and encouraging cooperation.

Rapid Response Webinars are free of cost for CÎMAM members. Non-members can attend by paying 10.00€ which will be deducted from their membership fee if they join CÎMAM in the next three months. Sessions are recorded and posted on the Members Only section of the CÎMAM website for those who missed it at the time.

June 30, 2022. In recent years, particularly after the COVID-19 pandemic, museums and memory institutions made a significant switch to accelerate their use of digital content and new technologies.

July 6, 2022. CIJMAM is approaching the festive commemoration of its birthday during the coming Annual Conference, this webinar has been organized with museum directors and curators of modern and contemporary art from Asia, Latin America and Europe [...].

July 28, 2022. This Rapid Response webinar seeks to foster a contextualized discussion on the role of so-called peripheral museums in this scenario. What are the contributions of South Asian, African, or Latin American collections for the debates on decolonization/restitution?
September 15, 2022. Since the outbreak of the Covid-19 pandemic across the world, museums have become increasingly recognised for the role they can play in addressing physical, mental, and social well-being.

September 29, 2022. While art institutions continue to be entangled in private, public, and political interests, today we desire to work together with Indigenous artists in relation to one another as equals, sharing resources, space, and responsibility, and to model structural change that celebrates multi-centred perspectives true to our own time.
Rapid Response Webinars will continue to be held in 2023 following the positive feedback received from CİMAM members:

"Beautiful and inspired presentations! I like to learn about what happens in other museums in the world, and the webinar helped me to learn and catch up on the news."

"Despite being from the 'global south,' I hadn't had the opportunity of getting to know about the work being done in South America and Africa so this was very insightful."

"I liked the connection between the Museum in Brazil and the one in Senegal and how the presentation enriched each other."

"The webinar was interesting and helpful for me. I've never been to Africa. Through the webinar, I've learned about the contributions of African museums and their advantages and disadvantages."

"Diversity point of view and different experiences."

"I was most interested in being informed about such diverse, unique, and alternative ways of working with collections and exhibitions."

"I appreciate CİMAM organizing the rapid webinars, and I am always interested in all the webinars' subjects. Attending the webinars helps me to learn about what happens in other art museums. Just like an in-person course or event, a webinar is delivered live, at a predetermined date and time. This helps everyone attending the event. Additionally, I can watch the webinar again later."

Outstanding Museum Practices Award

The CİMAM Outstanding Museum Practice Award recognises exemplary practices in museums around the world. It is dedicated to promoting excellence in innovation in modern and contemporary art museums, and to encouraging public accessibility and exchange, and sustainability within the sector.

Launched in 2021, the CİMAM Outstanding Museum Practice Award aims to give visibility to exemplary practices that can serve as a reference for the international community of modern and contemporary art museum professionals. Recipients of the Award are acknowledged during the CİMAM General Assembly held in November of each year during the last day of the Annual Conference.
This year's CİMAM Annual Conference, entitled "The Attentive Museum. Practices for a Common Ground," gave visibility to the diverse forms and models of museum practices in the world today. The museum as possibility and as a living, evolving practice was evident in the presentations and discussions at the Conference, not as abstract and theoretical projections but as resonant and urgent.

The 15 nominated practices for this year’s Award came from Central and South America, Asia, Africa, and Europe.

An initial shortlist of 5 nominees was made by CİMAM’s Outstanding Museum Practices Award Steering Committee with the full CİMAM Board agreeing the Award recipients. A guiding question in identifying the Award recipients was: What can we learn?

Announcing the Awards, Suzanne Cotter, chair of the Outstanding Museum Practice Award committee, stated: “This year’s Outstanding Museum Practices Awards recognizes museums in their commitment to the idea of the museum as a continued and evolving practice and in their willingness to assert alternative models to the persisting patriarchal and colonial structures of the European museum. The awarded museums enact a mutual empowerment for the museum and the publics that they look to serve.”

1) Kokama museums, Manaos, Amazonia, Brazil

The two Kokama museums in the city of Manaos are grounded in the local community, created by and for it: its preserve traditional knowledge, language, and crafts. The committee found this museum practice exemplary for museums worldwide in its acknowledgment of a model that is distinct from Western and non-indigenous models that have been the historical reference for museums for so many in the world, often at the expense of the cultural authors of the objects, items, and cultural artefacts that are collected and displayed. The acknowledgment of museums as places that can enable the transmission of cultural practices and thinking is also a model from which many museums can learn.
2) Museo Provincial de Bellas Artes "Rosa Galisteo de Rodriguez," Santa Fe, Argentina

   Founded in 1918, the museum had become somewhat stale when, a century later, the new director Analia Solomonoff and her team started the process for institutional transparency and democratization of the collection to redefine the access to their patrimony and renew the link to the art community. A spearheaded art program has put the museum back on Argentina's map through a new exhibition space and the project "Museo Tomado" (Museum Taken Over).

3) MAİİAM Contemporary Art Museum, Chiang Mai, Thailand

   Based in Chiang Mai, in Thailand, MAİİAM Contemporary Art Museum has been serving its community and the global art ecology through the presentation of impactful exhibitions of underrepresented Thai artists along with artists of international renown. As a contemporary art museum with a radically innovative program in this thriving regional city, MAİİAM has played a unique role in Thailand and has partnered with many regional institutions in Asia. The combination of professional attitude and strong community spirit has resulted in MAİİAM developing a leadership role in South East Asia initiating cross disciplinary projects that cover digital connectivity and sustainability agendas.

CİMAM 60th Anniversary

Since January 2021, Saskia Bos, Malgorzata Ludwisiak, Suhanya Raffel, and Mami Kataoka worked together with the CİMAM office, the İCOM headquarters archivist in Paris, and the collaboration of CİMAM members to prepare the celebrations of CİMAM’s 60th Anniversary taking place in 2022.

Museums from the Inside. 60 years of CİMAM

Through interviews with the committee’s directors and curators – including Suzanne Pagé, Rudi Fuchs, David Elliott, Toshio Hara, Maria de Corral, Ken Lum, Manolo Borja-Villel, and Patricia Phelps de Cisneros – the publication provides insider perspectives on how art has changed over the past half-century or so. The interviewees track the industry's transition from modern art to postmodern art to the contemporary landscape. Following an introduction that reflects on the fierce debates and controversies CİMAM has overseen, the volume features a selection of texts written since 2005 that grapple with decolonization, Arte Útil, and Indigenous art.

On July 5, 1962, the International Committee for Museums and Collections of Modern Art (CİMAM) was founded by 23 European members in The Hague (The Netherlands) under the original French acronym CİMAM –
CÎMAM

Comité de l'ICOM pour les Musées d'Art Moderne (ICOM Committee for Museums of Modern Art).

Sixty years later, this organization celebrates its anniversary with the publication of this book, in which Saskia Bos has conducted extensive research on the 60-year history of CÎMAM, highlighting the historical context, the actors, and the most relevant topics discussed during the first half of the 53 editions of the CÎMAM Annual Conferences. Mami Kataoka has analyzed and commented on the last 30 years highlighting how CÎMAM has become a truly global international committee.

This research, accompanied by a series of 21 interviews with former board chairs, donors, and curators, is now available on the Hatje Cantz website.

CÎMAM called on its members to contribute to the history of CÎMAM by sending their best memories, documents, and photos, which were incorporated into the book.

CÎMAM is grateful for the generous support of "la Caixa" Foundation towards the production of this book.
Growing up, reaching out, and reflecting

On the occasion of its birthday, CÎMAM organized a webinar with museum directors and curators of modern and contemporary art from Asia, Latin America, and Europe to discuss the past, present, and future of CÎMAM with Board members and the audience.

It was held on July 6, 2022, exactly 60 years and one day after its foundation in 1962, in The Hague, Netherlands.

Panelists included:
Mami Kataoka, President of CÎMAM and director of Mori Museum in Tokyo.
Suhanya Raffel, CÎMAM Board member and director of M+ Museum in Hong Kong.
Saskia Bos, CÎMAM Board member and art historian, and curator based in Amsterdam.
Malgorzata Ludwisiak, CÎMAM Board member and Chief Curator, Department of Modern Art at the National Museum in Gdansk, Poland.
Agustin Perez Rubio, CÎMAM Board member, independent curator, and former museum director of MALBA (Argentina) and MUSAC (Spain), Madrid, Spain.
At the Annual Conference in Palma, Mallorca, with many members, patrons, and honorary members of CİMAM present, the program opened with a historical perspective of CİMAM's 60 years, by Mami Kataoka, and Saskia Bos.

The Annual Conference was the perfect occasion to celebrate and discuss together the past and future of this international committee, which has become a reference for the modern and contemporary art community of professionals working with museums and collections.
Finance: 2022 Accounts

The fifteen members of the Board work voluntarily throughout their three-year tenure. CÎMAM’s programs and activities are run by an executive team of three professionals based in Barcelona.

CÎMAM’s budget follows cash-based criteria because all revenue and payment transactions are recorded. It shows the status of the CÎMAM bank account. There are no outstanding debts to third parties or pending payments to providers.

The COVID-19 crisis that started in February 2020 resulted in the cancellation of CÎMAM’s 2020 Annual Conference. Also, in lower attendance at the CÎMAM 2021 Annual Conference in Poland. Therefore, CÎMAM was exempted from one of the main income sources that allow this organization to cover its operational costs in 2020 and a reduced percentage in 2021.

In 2022, CÎMAM assumed the additional production costs of the book, Museums from the Inside. 60 years of CÎMAM.

Despite these exceptional expenses and lower income for two consecutive years, in December 2022, CÎMAM was financially in a healthy position thanks to its reserves and the essential support received annually from Major Patrons, Founding Patrons, Patrons, and Supporters.
